

Medication Classification

The following is a listing of medication classifications which can be administered by qualified professional personnel at this agency and the route(s) by which the medication may be administered.

Route of Administration

Medication Classification	PO	SL	IM	SQ	IV	PR	Aerosol	Buccal	Epidural	Intradermal	Optic/Otic	Topical	Other
Adrenergics
Adrenocortical Steroids
Amino Acids
Analgesics
Antacids
Antianginals
Antiarthritic/Antigout
Antiarrhythmics
Antibiotics/Antibacterials
Anticholinergics
Anticoagulants
Anticonvulsants
Antidepressants
Antidiabetics
Antidotes
Antiemetics
Antifungal Agents
Antihistamines
Antihypertensives
Anti-infectives
Anti-neoplastics
Antiparasites
Anti-Parkinson
Antipyretics
Antivirals
Bronchodilators
Cardiac Glycosides
Cholinergics
Cold/Cough Preparations
Contraceptives/Fertility Agents

All patients will be monitored as appropriate per classification and administration route for medication effectiveness and medication related problems.